

Chris Packham's five favourite autism facts

1. One in 100 people is autistic

Which means at least one of your friends, family or schoolmates is probably autistic.

2. Autistic people's brains see and feel the world differently

Which is a good thing because the world would be very boring if we were all the same!

3. Greta Thunberg is autistic

Like lots of autistic people, she gets very passionate about certain topics - hers is the environment.

4. Experts think many famous people from the past were autistic

The long list includes Albert Einstein, Sir Isaac Newton, Alan Turing and Andy Warhol.

5. World Autism Awareness Week is back 30 March - 5 April 2020

Ask your teachers what your school is doing to help create a society that works for autistic people.
